

Editor's Comment:

The research paper is an original, descriptive, and relevant manuscript in regard to today's digital environment. The abstract is effective. The keywords are absent. The introduction is detailed and covers many aspects. The technological vulnerability is effective. The human error is focused properly. The monitoring is discussed properly. The incident response is optimum. The collaboration and investment is appropriate. The conclusion is comprehensive.

The overall paper is important in today's world. I recommend the manuscript entitled "Securing Financial Transactions: A Taxonomical Review of Cybersecurity Strategies in Banking" for publication.
