

Editor's Comment:

The paper was published in a peer-reviewed journal, but to be published in our book the manuscript was sent to two independent and competent reviewers. One reviewer supposes the manuscript can be published after minor revision, while another supposes the manuscript must be hardly rewritten. The authors tried to change their paper. I propose to send the manuscript to the reviewer for re-evaluation. If he/she is satisfied with the revision - the manuscript can be printed as a book chapter.
